

CASE STUDY

OVERMOLDING SUPPORT ELEMENT

- Application developed for an injection molding activity company.
- One of their plastic overmolding machines generated problems in a gas mask obtention process. Some material collapses were generating during the process.
- The Soft Nylon made support permitted enough flexibility and resistance to the overmolded element, so the manufacturing process was improved considerably.

